

Critical Information Summary

ADSL2+ Plan

This will take you through critical information regarding the Astron ADSL2+ Plan.

Information About the Service

Astron's ADSL2+ broadband is for unlimited* broadband (subject to the Astron Reasonable Use Policy).

Service Availability

Astron's ADSL2+ is not available in all areas or in some cases if you are on the Optus network.

ADSL Speed

Astron's ADSL2+ broadband has a maximum possible download speed of 20Mbps and maximum possible upload speed of 1Mbps. The actual speeds will vary depending on factors such as the equipment you use, the ADSL profile used by Astron and our suppliers, the nature and quality of the connection at your location, electrical interference from outside sources, network utilisation and the number of customers accessing the network at any time, your hardware and software and the web sites that you visit. Consequently, we cannot guarantee that the maximum speeds will be available at your premises.

Equipment Required

To access the Astron ADSL service you will require a WiFi modem that supports all types of ADSL services. You must purchase a WiFi modem from Astron – pricing details are provided below under the heading "Information About Pricing".

Minimum Term

The Astron ADSL2+ plan has a minimum term of 24 months. Termination fees apply if you cancel the plan during the minimum term – details of the early termination fee are provided below under the heading "Information About Pricing".

Exclusions and Limitations

Astron's ADSL2+ only provides for one dynamic IP address. If you require a static IP address then this service is not suitable for you. Astron's ADSL2+ service does not support IPTV or IPTV protocols.

Astron's Reasonable Use Policy

Astron's Reasonable Use Policy applies to all our plans. Your unlimited* monthly data allowance is subject to this Policy. You can find Astron's Reasonable Use Policy at astron.net.au/terms-and-conditions.
